WING INFLATABLES RECEIVES RECOGNITION FOR EXCELLENCE

Columbus, Ohio, June 30, 2011 – Wing Inflatables has received a bronze-level award for quality and performance from the Defense and Logistics Agency (DLA) Land and Maritime for 2010. The award was presented at a ceremony during the DLA’s Industry Conference and Exhibition in Columbus, Ohio, on June 29.

The award, presented by Army Brig. Gen. Darrell K. Williams, the DLA Land and Maritime Commanding General, recognizes Wing as one of the U.S. government’s best suppliers.

According to company president Bill Wing, “This award is particularly significant because it recognizes organizations that consistently achieve superior quality and performance that translates into customer satisfaction,” he said. “It is gratifying to be recognized for building a quality product without sacrificing performance or support. That’s the culture at Wing.”
